Meat Ration Started Sept. 10

Meat rationing in Canada was resumed Monday morning, and promises to be a stiffer rationing than what prevailed previously. Under the present system every type of meat product comes under the ration except poultry and fish. Canned meats which have been frozen for some time, will be on the market again under rationing. In order that customers may get value for the brown "M" coupons in ration books, each coupon will represent 8 tokens. Under this plan the buyer can buy less meat at one time than the entire coupon value. The ration allows every individual about 1 1/3 lbs. of meat per week, or about 2 lbs. carcass weight.

The meat cuts vary in value. Group A which includes bacon, cooked pork, etc. allows 1 pound for a coupon. Group B which runs to 1 1/2 lbs. a coupon, includes beefsteaks, round or sirloin tip; veal cutlets, whole fresh ham and so on. Group C, running 2 lbs. a coupon, includes hindquarters, sirloin, veal loin, side pork, jellied meats, liver, kidney, sweetbreads. Group D at 2 1/2 lbs. a coupon, includes beef short-ribs, veal flank, pork sausage, mutton leg, fresh loin pork. Group E at 3 lbs. a coupon, includes fresh pork jaw, cured pork hock, heart.

The meat coupons will not expire at any monthly period and will be valid till declared invalid. One coupon became good Monday, Sept. 10, and one on Thursday, Sept. 13, with a coupon valid every Thursday.

The only unrationed meats are brains and heads of beef, calf, pork and lamb, and tails of beef, pork and lamb. Poultry, game or fish either canned or fresh will be unrationed.

The new system is unpopular with butchers. It is going to multiply their work and slow up service. It is claimed that they will have to cut meat within two ounces which is very difficult if not impossible.

For various reasons other elements have expressed themselves as opposed to the new rationing. Farm groups fear that it will work to the detriment of the producer, either in marketing or price.

The experience of the past rationing of meat did not reveal any actual saving in consumption comparable with the extra burden or work imposed, and the expense of operation. The present system is very much more ponderous and burdensome.

The government claims however that the only reason that rationing was discontinued in 1944 was because their wasn't enough shipping space to move the huge supplies from storage plans. Shipping space is now available and the liberated countries are in great need.

U.S. Fields Look Green

(From Printed Word)

The United States, under present circumstances may seem to many a more attractive country than Canada. We always have lost far too many of our young people to that country, but there is nothing in our outlook to suggest other than we are likely to lose an even greater number in future—unless, of course, we retain the Hitler device of not permitting people to leave the country freely.

There are several reasons why the United States' fields are green. Taxes are lower and wages are

NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION

This is the slogan of the local committee for the National Clothing Collection, and residents of town and district are asked by the committee to start now to make their selection of what can be spared for the collection to be made between October 1st and 20th of this year.

It is estimated that 125,000,000 people in Europe, including 30,000,000 children, are suffering and will suffer intensely, if clothes for these people are not donated by the citizens of Allied countries. Vulcans, what are we going to do? How far will we go to help these helpless people?

Under and outer clothing, shoes, socks, in fact almost any piece of wearable clothing that can be spared may save a life. Decide now to do your part.

The following committee was appointed for the National Clothing Drive at a meeting held Monday night: W. D. Allan (chairman), Mr. Albert Collier, Mr. C. R. Robson, Mrs. L. E. Richardson, Mrs. T. B. LeBeau, Mrs. W. S. Hill and Mr. G. C. Collier, of Vulcan, and Mrs. A. J. Maisay, of Kirkcaldy.

higher. There is a more independent political spirit.

It is fortunate in some ways that we are such near neighbors, for the United States, once the Japs quit, was the leader in getting rid of many controls. In no instance that we noted did we precede them, even though we were a few hours ahead of them in declaring war on Japan in 1941. As this is written it still is mandatory that you carry your registration card.

The war cost Canada the sum of $16,939,600,000 up to VJ Day.

The matter of a Welcome Home celebration was discussed at some length and it was decided to do everything possible to make such an event a real success, but it was the opinion of the meeting that it would require the co-operation of all organizations in Vulcan, and a meeting to make plans for it will be called in the near future.

CANADIANIZATION

It will be good news to Canadians to learn that at long last steps are being taken to give people of this country the legal right to call themselves "Canadians." The next census taker who comes along, and the Canadian immigration officers will have to accept our official status as Canadians. It has been an irritation to an ever-growing element in this country that they are classified under the general heading of British subjects. They are unquestionably proud to be British subjects, but they have felt that it is a betrayal of their native land to have no legal recognition of the fact that they are first and foremost Canadian citizens.

Those who have felt most keenly on this matter are the many whose families have lived in Canada for generations. Their people founded Canada and from generation to generation played a part in all development. Any family link that was maintained with the old land was snapped fifty, perhaps one hundred years ago. They have no sentimental tie with any country but Canada.

In spite of this exclusive identity, they were granted no legal recognition of their Canadian citizenship. In spite of the progress toward nationhood which has been made step by step in the last 100 years, there has been no such thing as a Canadian citizen.

Perhaps the most vigorous "Canadian" generation that Canada has known has been the early pioneers arriving in this country from 1800 to 1840, buffeting stormy seas, attacking the dangers and new conditions of a strange land, feeling in every fibre of their beings that they were making a country more nearly meeting their hearts' desire than anything they had known across the ocean. They laid the foundation of Canada and Canadian citizenship. If they could have lasted a few more years they would probably have fought for and won the right to legal recognition as Canadians. But less keen and combative generations have followed, with the result that we have lallygagged along till 1945 before we have become Canadians.

At long last after all the achievements of two world wars, and after all the peace-time progress in trade and settlement, we are to stand before the world as Canadians. It is a good day when that comes true.

Perhaps we are even to have a flag of our own. The admission of British subjects from other parts of the Commonwealth has been in the past tacitly accepted as readiness to become Canadians. But it is suggested that after a period of a few years they should be required to declare intention of allegiance to Canada, and they might also be required to indicate some familiarity with Canadian history and administration. It is also suggested that the process of naturalization be made more impressive in procedure. It is possible that Canada may adopt the American system of two stages, first declaration of intention, and secondly actual granting of citizenship

A NEW OBJECTIVE

WITH the requirements for overseas' shipments of cigarettes greatly diminishing the High River Sports' committee is turning attention to new objectives. This is not to say that the demand on the Smokes' fund has ceased, and it will not cease so long as men of this district are on occupational duty, or are in military hospitals or engaged in armed service duty outside Canada. But the major call on the fund is lessening all the time, and the end of the war finds the Sports' committee with approximately $3800 in the treasury.

High commendation has been earned by the citizens who have taken a leading part in maintaining the steady shipment of cigarettes, and keeping the funds replenished. This has been done mainly through the annual summer Sports' day, now a well established event, together with smaller revenues from winter carnival, dances, concerts and such means. These frequent activities have represented continuing labor on the part of a few people, earning the gratitude of the recipients of the cigarettes as well as all people of the district who also helped by generous support.

The question now rising is the best possible use to which funds on hand can be put. Since they were raised on behalf of the Smokes' fund any project contemplated should have some link with armed services. One proposal is that the money on hand might form the nucleus for a Community hall, which would be in the nature of a War Memorial. With this in view, it seems likely that the Sports' committee, which has proved so competent and willing in the past, might continue its good work.

The annual Sports' day has been conducted most successfully, from the standpoint of entertainment and financial returns. It could be developed even farther, and there seems every likelihood that other seasonal events in aid of such a memorial would draw enthusiastic support. Other town and district organizations might have their own means of adding to the fund. Whatever is planned, it would be well to decide on some worthwhile objective as speedily as possible before enthusiasm has time to lapse.

A very timely warning was issued at a recent meeting of the Sports' committee. That was the danger of letting the now substantial funds on hand dribble away piece-meal in small gifts without anything finally to show for it.

The Sports' committee is a going concern with real momentum, backed up by public confidence and support. If they should decide on something in the nature of a Memorial hall it would be an enduring undertaking, of inestimable benefit to the general public; to the men returning to this district from overseas, and to the eternal procession of young people.

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H. C.

There is marked similarity between what deGaulle is trying to do and what Talleyrand succeeded in doing at the Congress of Vienna in 1815. He had served Napoleon, but was then serving the Bourbon King. By sheer audacity he wangled his way into that Congress as representative of France and by playing opponents against each other he managed to get the best bargain possible for the defeated aggressor nation. Some think it was because of his success then that the Allies refused Germany a place at the Peace Conference in 1919.

There is this difference that France is not the defeated aggressor as she was then, but she is the defeated collaborator, and moreover while deGaulle has the audacity and persistence, he lacks Talleyrand's finesse, and adroitness. Talleyrand argued over the radio, what they had been doing the day after. That gave us a big head start over the haythen.

Emperor Hirohito was following tradition when he went to a shrine and humbly apologized to his ancestors for losing the war. That ought to end the tradition should some future Emperor find himself in similar case, why should he apologize to Hirohito? Why should Visikan Quising apologize to Judas Iscariot?

There was some merit in the custom. One can apologize to ancestors knowing full well that none of them will say "Well, what did I tell you?" or "I warned you against it." But Hirohito's apology was really owing to his descendants who are the ones most likely to be injured and who are the only ones in a position to hear the apology. It will be noted he apologized only for losing the war. There was no repentance for starting it or allowing it to start in spite of Roosevelt's personal appeal to him to avoid so disastrous a course.

The suicides that have already taken place and the executions of war criminals that are to follow constitute a new form of insurance against war. Never before have such punishments been meted out to the malefactors of war. It should be a warning to others to avoid war, or make certain to win it for these punishments will be used as precedents by the winners of the next war even though they be themselves the aggressors and the war criminals.

"Av coorse," said Martin Dooley, springing suddenly to his again, "we had a big advantage over them Japs. For wan thing, we could alwus hear anny day over the radio, what they had been doin' the day after. That gave us a big head start over the haythen."

Stalin declares that the atomic bomb secret should belong to all United Nations instead of only one. In this he follows the lead of Mr. Coldwell who advanced that idea as soon as he heard of the secret. It would therefore appear expedient to give the proposal the closest study and scrutiny before rejecting it.

Signing the surrender forms was a grievous task for Jap admirals and generals. Some of them were so affected they could hardly see the dotted line.

Provincial liquor commissioners in conference assembled were assured there was no discrimination in the circumstance that one province got an eighty ounce ration while others got only 13 or

26. They would not have been so easily persuaded if the favored province were Alberta or Ontario.

Prince Edward Island, in the scheme of things spiritual is a place apart. Liquor is legally obtainable there only on a medical prescription. That system has been tried elsewhere and found wanting. No free-born Briton desirous of getting a bottle of spirits should be obliged to pretend he is sick and have a physician certify that it is no pretence but genuine. Not only that, but many a free-born Briton does not relish his whiskey when he is ill as well as he does when in real arrogant good health. Besides, there are hosts of total abstainers who swear that whiskey is no good as a medicine anyway.

Cattle Prices

(Pincher Creek Echo)

Each year, along about this time or a little earlier just when the grass begins to get a little on the dry side, and the weatherman acts as though he had forgotten how to turn on the rain; when cattle quit their gadding around and settle down to the business of putting on a good layer of fat over their ribs and around the part where the good steaks come from; that is when the packers think the time is ripe to start bringing in the harvest. So, unhampered by Donald Gordon, the famous price fixer, they proceed to cut their prices, but the beef harvest comes rolling in off the ranges, just the same. Just who is the goat is hard to decide. We know the rancher takes a drastic cut in the price of his beef, just when he is forced to sell, but on the other hand the consumer goes right on paying the same fancy price for his steaks and roasts, never dreaming the price has dropped at the other end and not quite believing all this talk about a glut of beef on the market, when he expects any day now to get his new supply of ration coupons.

Good Bye, Horses

Contract With Belgium Will Require 100,000 Western Horses Processing. Would Relieve Pasture in Drought Areas

Farmers and ranchers in Southern Saskatchewan did not realize eighteen months ago that their objectives would become a reality so soon. They were concerned with the conservation of the grazing lands and feed reserves of the country. Surplus horses were ruining the pasture reserves and were a liability to the livestock. Today this liability is being turned into an asset. A contract for 100,000 tons of horse meat, both canned and pickled, has been obtained from the Belgium Government by the Horse Co-operative Marketing Association. Two processing plants are being established; one at Edmonton to serve Northern Alberta and Northern Saskatchewan and the other at Swift Current to serve Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan. They will be in operation before October 1, and the contract will involve the movement of over 100,000 horses before January, 1947. This movement will stabilize the livestock industry more than any other single factor in the two provinces. That is the objective behind those who have given their time and energy to this project. A liability of long standing is being turned into an asset and over five million dollars will be returned to the farmers and ranchers of Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is a Co-operative movement on the part of producers themselves and the non-profit motive prevails. Only those who ship horses through the plants will participate in the profits.

The contract for 100,000 tons of horse meat to Belgium will involve the processing of 100,000 horses. These horses will be taken from all areas of the two provinces, and an effort will be made to take as many horses as possible from the drought areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan as plants begin operations this fall to relieve the serious feed situation.

There is a demand for all by-products such as horse hides, horse hair, horse oil, meat meal, tankage assure a good return to the horse owner. Horses being marketed for and bone meal. These products have a high market value and will laughter at Swift Current or Edmonton will be paid for on the basis of fleshy condition. An initial payment will be two cents per lb. live weight for horses in good fleshy condition, with further payments in the form of patronage dividends. Horses in medium or poor flesh will receive a lower initial payment. The basis of live grading will be determined on the meat recovery from three hundred horses to be put through one of the plants.

The Co-operative is capitalized at $500,000.00 with shares at $1.00 per share. The Provincial Government of Saskatchewan guaranteed $50,000.00 to the Bank to enable the Co-operative to commence operations. A further guarantee from the Saskatchewan Government of $2.00 for every $1.00 raised by members will enable the Co-operative to raise its objective of $100,000.00. Horse owners are asked to subscribe, share, and loan capital, with monies loaned guaranteed 4% interest. As horses are delivered to the plant, further deduction of $3.00 per horse is made for loan capital. Each horse entitles the owner to a share in the Co-operative. Identification of horses must be maintained so the producer will receive the benefit of patronage dividends. Horses shipped to the plants are of course, slaughtered and all freight charges over 25 cents per cwt. are absorbed by the Co-operative.

Horse owners are also asked to list their horses immediately so quota deliveries can be given to districts in the two provinces. Those paying their $1.00 share per horse in advance are given a priority in delivery to the plants.

A. H. Wray, M.L.A. allegedly charged that millions of dollars of R.C.A.F. equipment had been destroyed at Penhold. Air Minister Gibson states that the original cost of the equipment was $600,000 and the value of serviceable parts would not exceed more than a few hundred dollars, which would not have paid for extraction of serviceable parts.

A coal dealer deprecates all this talk of Canadian people freezing next winter because of coal shortage—says it makes them fearful, and drives them to panic buying. He might have added that it is likely also to set some labor leader athinking this a good time to stage a few strikes in the industry.

WORLD FOOD and the Prairie Farmer

1. THE CHALLENGE OF FOOD PRODUCTION

By Dean R. D. Sinclair

(NOTE—This is the first of a series by this well-known authority, written expressly for the Weekly Press of the Prairie Provinces)

At the peak of the depression of the early thirties farmers in some countries were paid for the wheat which they didn't raise, young pigs were slaughtered to produce tannage or were dumped into the sea. There appeared to be too much food in sight but at the same time millions of people were starving in other parts of the world. Actually there was not too much food if it had been properly distributed. A careful study of the records shows that there has never been too much food in the world when the actual needs of all of the people have been taken into account.

The United Nations Food Conference held at Hot Springs, Virginia, in 1943 set itself to the task of studying what could be done to improve the standard of nutrition of the peoples of the member nations through better distribution of the available food. It was recognized that people must be able to purchase food if it is made available to them and at the same time the farmer must be assured a fair return for what he produces. The words uttered by the late President Roosevelt at the conclusion of this epoch-making conference have resounded throughout the United Nations. He said: "You have surveyed with courage and with realism the magnitude of these problems and have reached unanimous agreement that they can, and must—and will—be solved. . . . The objective, as men know from long and bitter experience will not be easy to achieve. But you and I know also that throughout history there has been no more worthwhile, no more inspiring challenge. That challenge will be met."

There is a determination abroad that the objectives of the Food Conference must be woven into the pattern of any World Security Organization that is designed. National policies which are being developed to relate our production to that of other countries and to offer some protection against collapse of prices suggest that agriculture can move forward with a feeling of security that it has not had in the past.

It is proper at this time for the farmers of the Prairie Provinces to examine their position and see where they fit into this scheme of better human nutrition and an expanding consumption of food products. Our problem is not only one of producing food for the immediate needs of starving millions in devastated countries but one involving a long-term programme which will affect generations to come.

We have largely passed the stage of the pioneer outlook in connection with farming in Western Canada. The sons and grandsons of the early settlers have their roots firmly established in soil of this country. There is no thought of moving on to another location. We should be thinking now more than ever before along the lines of building permanent homes, substantial and convenient farmsteads and the development of communities in which a worthwhile life can be lived. Permanency should be a dominant motive in all of the processes of our western

True Values

Writing of the reported request of railways for higher rates and the general relation between wages and returns for different types of service, the Lethbridge Herald asks:

What is the value of a railwayman's time for moving wheat to Fort William as compared with the cost of the wheat to the farmer? What is the value of a builder's hour compared with that of the man who cuts the lumber in the woods? What is the measure of wages in terms of commodities, and what should it be for parity all round?

These are difficult questions to answer. And in the answering we must remember that we are coming out of this war with a debt close to 15 billion dollars while the U.S. debt will be around 300 billion dollars? Where must the level of wages and commodity prices be pegged in order to carry those burdens—so that taxes will bear a relationship to income which will not be unbearable and which will be an incentive to the private enterprise of each one of us to add to our own and the national income?

Everything we do in the price-wage range during the next two years will have a bearing upon our future prosperity. If we allow too much deflation our job will be made very difficult. If we inflate beyond international levels we will have chaos. Very few people give much thought to economic problems beyond those which touch them directly. But the world must try to find a fair level if trade is to be made possible, and Canada must be willing to co-operate in finding that level. For without trade Canada as we know it cannot exist. So the very best thought of each one of us should be given to all problems having to do with prices and wages, with international trade, and with a stable international exchange basis.

During the war with Germany, Canada spent more than $15,000,000,000 on war alone. Two-thirds this amount was met by taxation and most of the remainder by borrowing from the public through war savings, victory bonds, etc. Revenue derived from personal income taxes in the year 1944-45 was almost 11½ times that of 1939-40.

agriculture. The savings which have been put by in the form of Victory Bonds during the war may well be the means of making it possible to make a switch over from temporary experiments to permanent improvements. Yes, we are going to be engaged in this business of producing food in Western Canada for a long time to come.

The records set in agricultural production in Western Canada during the years of the present war, in spite of handicaps of equipment and labour, indicate that we can still go a long way in increasing our contributions to the world's stock of food supplies. We have vast undeveloped soil resources. Thousands of our boys are going to settle on the land when they are released from military service. We will have to consider making room for some of those who would like to come here from countries where the farms have been plundered and devastated by a ruthless enemy. How can we organize our resources so that we may meet the challenge and opportunity of feeding the people of the world more adequately and at the same time bring about a higher standard of farm life on the prairies? We will study this question in the short articles which will follow in this series.

Can Get Gas But Need New Tires

It is one of the ironies of life that with gas restrictions removed, there is a terrific urge to get out and see the world again. But the old tires won't stand up to it. We have places to go, and wonderful scenery to enjoy. We don't need to watch gas coupons, and it is a great temptation to risk the old tires for journeys that are too much for them. The result is that the highways are substantially lined with travel-hungry citizens wrestling with flat tires.

There's always a fly in the ointment, a hole in the doughnut, and a cloud in the sky. And at the present moment, the scarcity of good roadworthy tires is quite a headache. Judging from flat-tire sufferers that one sees in the course of a day's journey, the time is approaching when many a car will have to be put away until there is release of sturdy tires.

It seems folly to lift restrictions on the speed of highway travel so long as the average car is in its present dubious state, moving along mainly on faith and prayer. The present condition of tires does not warrant the long chances being taken in pushing speed up to 50 or 60 miles an hour. And the worst of an accident is that it often involves too many other people besides the man at the wheel.

It will be a happy day for all motorists—and a safer day—when tires become available again. Then long deferred dreams of travel may come true, unless by that time our buying power has collapsed.

"I'M AN OLD CUSTOMER. DO ME A FAVOUR!"

"GIVE ME SIX—THEY'RE MIGHTY HARD TO GET!"

"NOW THE WAR'S OVER, EVERYBODY FOR HIMSELF I SAY."

"SLIP ME A COUPLE OF SHIRTS BROTHER!"

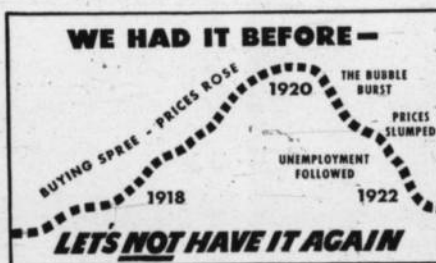

"NEVER MIND THE PRICE. I'LL PAY ANYTHING!"

MULTIPLY A WHISPER BY A MILLION—

DEFLATION

AND YOU'VE GOT INFLATION

Let's not deceive ourselves by the belief that the danger is over—just because the war is won. And let's remember that inflation is always followed by deflation with its misery of bankrupt businesses, mortgage foreclosures and unemployment.

It's your job and your savings that are at stake.

The danger of inflation, with its black shadow—deflation—will remain as long as goods are scarce and insufficient to meet demands. That may be 6 months, 12 months, 18 months. Only time will tell. As quickly as controls are unnecessary, they are dropped.

After nearly 6 years of war, industry cannot switch over to normal production of civilian goods by a snap of the fingers. Reconversion takes time. The whole system of raw materials, labor and production has to be re-gear.

In the meantime, price ceilings, rationing and other controls are the safeguard for every one of us. It's everybody's responsibility to help make them work.

SO—Keep on watching your buying. Don't rush to buy scarce goods. Keep on saving your money. Put it into Victory bonds and War Savings certificates.

Keep on supporting wage and price controls, and rationing. Keep on fighting inflation and its black shadow... deflation.

This advertisement is issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation and unemployment later.

Ninth Victory Loan Called

Canada's Ninth Victory Loan will open on October 22nd and will be the biggest ever floated in this country, the Honorable J. L. Halsey announced recently. The loan will cover Canada's borrowing needs for the next twelve months, the Minister of Finance explained, making it unnecessary to have another campaign next spring.

"One large loan now instead of two smaller loans, one now and another in the Spring of 1946, means a real saving of time, effort and expense," he said. "It is possible to aim for a full year's needs in one loan because Canada's borrowing requirements over the next twelve months will not be as large as they have been in recent years."

"With victory won, we now face new tasks. For instance, men in hundreds of thousands must be brought back to their homeland from overseas. This will take time because of shipping shortages and continuing operations in occupied areas. Meanwhile, they must be paid, fed, housed and cared for in a hundred-and-one different ways."

"Then, the wounded and the sick must be restored to health. Veterans will be given a good start in civilian life. Many will be trained for new jobs. War service gratuities and re-establishment credits will be paid. These and other rehabilitation outlays involve hundreds of millions of dollars."

"People in war-torn countries need food, clothing, medical and other supplies to relieve suffering and distress. The United Nations, including Canada, are making gifts of essential supplies to these people. Canada is also lending money to countries in war areas to help them buy supplies in Canada urgently needed to overcome the losses and devastation of war."

"Then, there are outlays of various kinds to clean up the war program, and to start us on our way towards normal peacetime living."

"These tasks, and these needs, are reasons why Canada's borrowing requirements for the next year will remain at a high level even."

Puts $100,000 in Old Burns Mine

According to C. V. Myers, oil editor for the Calgary Herald, Calmont Oil Company, has committed itself to the amount of $100,000 toward developing the old Burns' coal property on the Highwood. The site is described as 25 miles southwest of Okotoks. Herbert Greenfield, president of Calmont Oils, states that eastern capital is also invested.

There has as yet been no activity on the site, although 16 tons of the coal have been shipped to the east for analysis. Mr. Greenfield claims that the grade of coal compares well with U.S. anthracite and the company could compete with U.S. coal. One estimate of the resources of coal in this site show 300,000 tons.

The Old, Old Story

It was with great satisfaction that we read a statement issued by the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, to the effect that if farmers fail to control soil drifting, the necessary measures will, some day, have to be enforced. We are apt to forget that democracy entails personal responsibility as well as privilege. Too often we side-step the former and cling to the latter. Soil drifting has been very serious in parts of Western Canada this year. It should be recognized as a prelude to catastrophe and given the widest possible publicity; but, probably because we are ashamed of it, little is spoken by radio and little written in the press.

It is annoying and costly to the farmer to have his seed blown out or seedlings cut to pieces with drifting sand. The most patient and long-suffering housewife may be bad company when floors and furniture are covered with layers of soil, and when pantries and clothes cupboards become dust bins. But these experiences are trivial in comparison with the permanent damage done to productive soils.

Government agriculturists are almost always conservative in their claims; but over and over again officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have declared that soil drifting can be controlled. The recent warning from Lethbridge is timely and we dare not disregard it.

though direct war costs have declined with Victory in Europe and in the Pacific. They are reasons why Canadians are being asked to continue their present savings program for another year.

"Plans to win the peace—plans for high employment and prosperity in the days to come—are now being laid. Continued saving over the next year will help these plans succeed."

"War production has come to an end. Production for civilian use is on the way up. But, the supply of new things to buy at current prices is still very much less than the amount of spendable money in the hands of Canadians. As long as this condition remains, there will be upward pressure on prices—pressure which could lead to inflation, then to mass unemployment, misery and hardship."

"The minimum objectives for the new loan are the largest in Victory Loan history. They reflect the two loans in one feature of 9th Victory Loan, the continued need for saving, and the new level of borrowing requirements."

"As individuals, Canadians know the value of Victory Bonds—the value of a reserve of savings to meet future needs and wants. With twelve months to pay for 9th Loan Bonds, many Canadians will buy double the amount of their purchases in earlier loans, and most others will buy more than before."

"The 9th Victory Loan will be Canada's Greatest Victory Loan."

Danish Bacon Vs. Canadian

A staff writer in the Financial Post speaks of arrival of Danish bacon on the British market, complicating the outlook for the Canadian hog producer.

During the war, says the writer, Canada operated under difficulties in trying to meet the standard of the popular Danish type. In order to meet wartime conditions and uncertainties of shipping, Canada was obliged to send out its bacon more heavily cured than is desirable. This was necessary because otherwise there might have been great waste. Normally the Canadian product should reach the British consumer in three weeks, and be under controlled temperature all the time. This gives the consumer the bacon he likes.

But during the war it took up to two months to reach the consumer, with no security of temperature control during that period. Canada was obliged to cure the meat heavily to ensure its use in good condition. Britain also asked that the weight of hogs be increased to provide more fat at the expense of quality.

But now that the Lowlands are liberated along comes Denmark with its fresh, mild cured lean bacon in comparison with which Canada's war-time product does not show up well. Canada has now to try to overcome this unfair competitive position in which she has been placed at the request of British authorities.

Just how much bacon the Danes will be able to ship to Britain in the near future is a matter of conjecture. Theoretically, Danish bacon is supposed to be used to feed Europe rather than Britain. But the shipment which arrived in Britain a short time ago was reputedly sent because otherwise it would have spoiled due to lack of proper transport facilities within Europe itself.

Actually the Danes included in the shipment a considerable tonnage of their best fresh bacon as the old bacon had badly deteriorated through storage. As well, they accompanied the shipment with a great fanfare of publicity.

Canadian representations are designed to make sure that as this competitive race begins, the Canadian product is not at a disadvantage with that of Denmark.

In addition, Canada is, of course very much troubled about her ability to maintain regular supply to Britain during 1946. Present crop prospects, together with a steady swing away from hogs and into wheat on the part of western farmers, have put an alarming complexion on the outlook for 1946 exports.

Research is in progress in Britain to discover if radar can be used to guide the blind.

FEEDING HOGS ON WHEAT.

Some think there may be a shortage of oats and barley for feeding hogs this coming year. Splendid results have been attained by skilled large scale hog producers by the method of feeding feeder hogs exclusively on wheat mixed with 8 percent of tankage. Those, therefore, who are short of oats and barley might well consider using wheat for hog feeding.

Gilberti, the ranch foreman who shot Herman Trelle, former Wheat King of Canada, is being tried for murder. Trelle, who was managing a ranch at San Bernardino, California, was allegedly shot by Gilberti whom he had fired.

Six Years of Warfare Officially Ended on September 2nd

Japan Signs Unconditional Surrender Ending Global Conflict. Chinese-Russian Troubles Smoothing Out.

Last Sunday, Sept. 2, Japan surrendered formally to the Allies. The ceremony took place aboard the U.S. Missouri in Tokyo Bay, with U.S., British, Chinese, Australian, Canadian, French, Dutch and New Zealand representatives present. The Japanese emperor, through signatures of his representatives accepted the Potsdam declaration which called for elimination for all time of those who led Japan to war. That country, which has not known defeat for 2600 years, is now subject to the will of the allies with all her conquests stripped and complete disarmament.

It was on Sept. 1, 1939, that Hitler, on the other side of the world, entered Poland. On Sept. 3 Britain declared war against Germany, and Canada followed suit on Sept. 11th.

In the Asiatic sphere, Japan had been invading China openly for eight years, and the destruction of Pearl Harbor which brought United States into the war occurred Dec. 11, 1941.

It is understood that General MacArthur will put a million troops into the occupation zone, and a good proportion will remain till it is positive that Japan is settling up a government that will forward world peace. Britain will reoccupy the Crown colony of Hong Kong, ceded in 1842. China suggests that Hong Kong should be handed back, but the whole question of U.S. and British bases in the Pacific will be settled later.

Premier Soong and Premier Stalin have recently come to agree which relieves fear of Russian-Chinese trouble. Chinese sovereignty over all Manchuria is recognized, but so also is the development instituted by Russia on the northern fringe of Manchuria. The Russians will be given free port privileges at Dairen, and Port Arthur is to be a joint naval base for Russia and China. Russia will not interfere in China's internal affairs, and Chiang-Kai-Shek's administration. This leaves the General free to bring about unity between the Communist war lords in northern China, and his own followers. This Russo-Chinese agreement may be very important to world peace.

Britain was roused by President Truman's notice that lend-lease would be cancelled. But this notification has been modified by the Truman recommendation to Congress that 42 billions of lend-lease should be written off by United States. The idea of Truman's is that though world nations may now have to stand on their own feet in trade, the lowering of trade barriers in the spirit of the Atlantic charter should be pursued. This will assist trade, and if small needy countries can have extension of credits they will swing back to normal. The aim of the new world league is to extend credit to nations for their recovery.

Flour Mills Go At Full Speed

Now the Wartime Prices and Trade Board says that all flour produced in Canada must be produced for human consumption. At the same time Canada's flour mills are to be operated at peak capacity. This will mean the utilization of Canadian labor, and the production of more flour for the devastated countries of the world.

So long as European countries are in need of flour then it is deemed advisable to put Canadian manpower to work producing that flour instead of exporting wheat alone and allowing it to be milled in Europe.

This may mean a drop in the export of wheat, but it will mean an increase in the exports of flour.

Canadian flour mills, officials of the Wartime Prices Board say, have been doing a splendid job in filling their quotas and getting export flour out.

However, there will be no shortage of Canadian flour for domestic use as Canada's domestic needs are to be met before Europe's needs are considered.

B.A. Oils Buy Union Oil Co.

Purchase of the business and the physical assets of the Union Oil Company of Canada by The British American Oil Company Limited was announced recently by W. K. Whiteford, President of British American Oil. Union Oil of Canada is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Union Oil of California and has been one of the large marketers of petroleum products in British Columbia and Alberta. In addition to its retail outlets and distribution, Union Oil has extensive marine bunkering and storage facilities located in Vancouver Harbor.

By the deal B.A. Oil extends its marketing activities from coast to coast and the added volume of business accruing to B.A. through the acquisition of Union outlets will establish British American Oil as the leading independent Canadian marketer of petroleum products in B.C.—a position the Company enjoys throughout the rest of Canada.

It is understood that all former employees of Union Oil of Canada have been invited to join the staff of British American Oil.

British American is a completely integrated Company owning its own crude oil wells, gathering and pipe lines, refineries, marine and inland bulk storage and marketing facilities. Crude oil is processed in 5 refineries located at Montreal, Toronto, Clarkson, Ont., Moose Jaw and Calgary. The Clarkson Refinery, opened in the fall of 1943 for the manufacture of aviation gasoline and lubricating oils, is regarded as the most modern and completely integrated lubricating oil refinery in the Dominion.

B.A. Oil Co. assets are in excess of $67,000,000 with 19,000 shareholders and issued capital stock of 2,772,642 shares. It has close to 4,000 retail outlets across Canada.

An Alberta rancher, undergoing treatment at a certain hospital, writing to a friend, said: "Naturally I am causing a lot of commotion among the nurses and visiting clergymen."

ELECTRIFICATION

In Sweden 75% of the farms are electrified, in Denmark 85%, in Holland 95%, in the United States 40%, and in Canada 20%. Breaking down the Canadian statistics, Ontario with 6.6 users to the mile, 40% of the farms are served, in B.C. 36% with 5 customers to the mile. Quebec with 4 to the mile, 19% were served, and in Alberta only 5% with an average density of 1.3 farms to the mile.

Red Ensign Canada's Flag?

Canada is likely to have a flag of its own. This is going to be one of the questions up in parliament at this session. Pending approval of a national design, the government has authorized use of the red ensign whenever a distinctive Canadian flag is desired. This was the flag carried into battle by the Canadian army.

Another important piece of legislation will be the giving of legal status to "Canadian" as a nationality. This would mean that Canadians would not have to list themselves as British subjects whenever legal nationality was called for.

These two questions of flag and Canadian nationality have been lively issues in Canada for many years and public opinion has been far in advance of parliamentary action. It is expected that the ceremony of naturalization will be made much more impressive.

Other matters before parliament include further measures to assist the destitute in Europe; ratification of the United Nations charter for peace maintenance; special powers for reconstruction period; abolishing national war services, and merging of war departments into reconstruction department.

Strange Sequence

(Winnipeg Free Press)

The British Columbia press makes interesting but rather melancholy reading these days. The front pages carry daily stories about cut-backs in war industries, the lay-off of shipyard workers, and mass meetings to demand that the government supply every unemployed war worker with a job. Inside the paper are large advertisements from mining companies, logging camps and farmers almost screaming for labor.

To most Canadians this will fail to make any sense—thousands of jobs available throughout British Columbia and unemployment developing in Vancouver because workers there will not leave the city. It will be time enough to talk about an unemployment problem in Canada when industry and agriculture can get the workers they need.

In the meantime a notable sequence of absurdities is developing. The construction of housing is held up for lack of loggers in the woods to cut timber. Lack of house construction means less jobs for carpenters, plumbers, plasterers and many other kinds of workers. Lack of miners is bound to affect the manufacturing industries that need raw metals. Yet it is in just such area as Vancouver that people are demanding more houses and more manufactured goods.

Struck a Flowing Well
It has been reported that Joe Marshall has struck a flowing well on his farm six miles west of town. The drilling was completed last week and according to the report the water is excellent for drinking purposes and is soft. Good wells and good water are at a premium in this country and at present time all water for the village is hauled from the Circle Spring ranch, a distance of 11 miles. Should this well measure up to expectations and present indications, it could be a boon to the entire district.

Happy Social Event
A large crowd attended the wedding dance held at the Queenstown hall, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond King-Smith, both formerly of Queenstown. Young and old danced to the rhythmic strains of the Merry Makers of Vulcan. The bride as well as the bridesmaid wore gowns of lovely white satin and the groom a suit of dark blue. He was a community-minded man and was a member of the first Milo Board of Trade and at Queenstown was very active in baseball and other athletic activities. He was also a member of Masonic Lodge A.F. & A.M. of Gleichen. The item from an Ontario weekly follows: "On Tuesday evening, August 14 the Village of Drumbo was shocked to hear of the death of Clarence Z. Costin at the Woodstock hospital. Mr. Costin was born at Brantford, son of Adelaide Muir and Edward Costin. He moved to Alberta in early manhood but returned to Ontario in 1935 and had resided in Drumbo for the past eight years. He is survived by his wife, the former Alice O'Brien, a school teacher of Queenstown, Alberta, to whom
